

XM radio provides me with a unique service with its continuous weather and traffic reports. I frequently drive from Washington, DC to the New York area, and it is very useful to me to have traffic and weather information available to me sooner than I would get it on broadcast stations (which often preempt their traffic reports for sporting events). I am willing to pay for this service, and it should be available to any of us who wish to use it.